Gators stop Tampa 6-2, head for Baker

By ELKE SCHWARTZ

BELLE GLADE — "The Buc Stops Here" was Glades Day's motto as they beat the Tampa Berkely Buccaneers 6-2 in a home game on Friday night, Nov. 30.

The Glades Day Gators advance to the final round of the Class A playoffs, facing the Baker Gators for the state title.

Before the Bucaner coach Al Pisano said the Glades Gators were a tough team physically and that his main concern was to control the scrimmage line and to stop the tailback."

Also in a pre-game interview, Gator coach Byron Walker said that the Bucs had a strong running team and that he felt the Gators were prepared for the second round of the playoffs.

It was a tense game for both teams. Gator Philip Echols fumbled three times and Tampa Bay Bucs Will Knight and Fred Pisano each fumbled the ball once in the game.

In the second quarter, Gator linebacker Ricky Lyman intercepted a pass thrown by Tampa quarterback Brett Divers and gained some yardage for the Gators.

Things really began to pick up for the Gators when Philip Echols scored a three yard touchdown during the last two minutes in the third quarter.

During the last minute of the game, Gator Jorge Suarez caught the ball on a snap deep in Gator territory, only to be tackled by the Bucs, who scored a two point safety.

Echols and McMillian gained the most yardage during the game, finishing with 140 yards and 47 yards, respectively.

Coach Walker said he felt the Gators did an outstanding job.

"The Bucs are the best football team we've played this season," Walker said. "They were really hitting us. We were trying to beat the clock at the end so we played rather conservatively toward the end."

Bucaner coach Al Pisano said he was disappointed over the Bucs loss, but that their school was well represented.

"We have nothing to be ashamed of," Pisano said. "Our boys played their best, but Glades Day was just too strong."

Pisano also added that the city of Belle Glade and Glades Day High School was tremendously hospitable to the team.

The Glades Day Gators travel to Baker, where the game will be played at Baker High School, Saturday, Dec. 8, at 7:30 p.m. Baker time.

GATORS John Hundley [11] and Jason Mann [21] close in for a tackle of Tampa's Rich Williams late in the game Friday night.

Tom Altman: providing key leadership for the Glades

By PAUL EVANS

BELLE GLADE — Every week, Belle Glade Mayor Thomas L. Altman spends 50 hours as the branch manager at E.F. Hutton.

And, somewhere in between and around that schedule, puts in another 20 or 30 hours as Belle Glade's mayor.

Altman left Belle Glade with his family from Sanford in 1958. Back then, Main Street was just a two-lane elevated road, and the only businesses on it were near Avenue A.

Business was a lot different then too. In 1958, sugar wasn't the prominent industry it is today in the Glades area.

During that period, vegetables were the main staple of area farmers. But starting around 1960-1961, the sugar industry stated moving in.

"Sugar has helped provide the area with a stable economy," Altman says. "The nature of vegetables (farming) is such that it has a boom and bust cycle. Sugar, because of the mills, has created a segment of jobs that didn't exist before, and I think that's been healthy."

Growing up here and being a part of that change was important to Altman.

"I had a really great childhood," he says. "I was involved in a lot of activities in school, and I made friendships that will last a lifetime."

One of the activities Altman was involved in was high school football. He quarterbacked the Belle Glade High School team. Altman, however, took the division championship, he was named all conference quarterback in 1968.

Today, Altman follows local high school sports as best he can, although he says that due to the time constraints of his work, he can only keep up with the games in the newspaper.

"I think the coaching staff does a remarkable job," Altman says, "so many of those guys (players) go on to college football, and you've got to give the coaches a lot of credit for that."

Another of his interests in high school was golf. During those high school years, he did manage to win a few county-wide tournaments.

When he went to Florida State University FSU in 1968, he had entertained the idea of playing golf professionally.

"When I got out of high school and on the FSU freshman (golf) team," Altman says, "and I found out how good some people really were, I changed my mind."

He did however go on to get his bachelor's degree in government, after which, he moved back to Belle Glade and became assistant to the city manager.

In 1974, in a close run-off race with commissioner Eugene Harrison, Altman, then 23, was elected to the city commission.

Each year the commission elects one of their members to be the mayor. Altman has been elected to that post seven times.

The commission sets policy for the city government, adopts the annual budget and is the law making body of government.

A city manager runs the day-to-day operations of the city.

When Altman was first sworn in as a city commissioner in 1974, one of his primary concerns was the rebuilding of the city's sewer and utility systems.

Today Altman points with pride to the fact that his goal of 10 years ago has been ac-

GCI:

A look at life in a closed custody correctional center

By PAUL EVANS

BELLE GLADE — Walking through the yard isn't easy for Glades Correctional Institute (GCI) Superintendent Randall Music.

He can't do it without being stopped half a dozen times by prisoners who have complaints, need a favor or just generally have something to say to him.

"I have a good rapport with them," Music says. "They know I'm fair, but I don't let anyone give me any bull."

Music has worked in five different prisons in the 23 years since he started working for the Department of Corrections.

His first job was with Florida Correctional Institute. Next came Sunter Correctional Institute, then Florida State Prison, then Cross City, and back to Florida State prison again where he served as chief correctional officer.

When he came to GCI, he did so as the first chief corrections officer in the state to become a prison superintendent.

GCI is a closed custody correctional center which means that it must be fenced in and must either have armed guards in towers or guards in roving vehicles.

The prison was built during the depression days of the 1920s when, as Music says, there was a lot of thievery and whatever people needed to do to survive.

Originally the institution was called State Prison Number II and was used to send farm products to the state prison in Chatahoochee.

Today, the prison has its own cannery where it sends products like green beans, sweet potatoes, collard greens, squash, corn, carrots and other vegetables, which are grown by the prisoners, and sent to prisons all over the state.

There is also a meat-processing plant which processes poultry, beef and swine for the same purpose as the vegetables, and a sanitation and janitorial supply operation which services non-profit organizations such as schools.

The institute also has orange groves. Part of the winter crop of oranges is used every year to supply food to the needy.

The inmates who work on these various operations are paid a nominal fee for their

GCI inmates win bodybuilding competition trophies

By PAUL EVANS

BELLE GLADE — GCI inmates Jerry McCloud, 29, and Blye Burlington, 30, won first place trophies recently in the Mr. Jules Body Building Classic in Palm Beach County.

McCloud took first place in the light heavyweight class. He also placed third in the Mr. South Florida tournament held two weeks ago.

He started lifting about six years ago. Today, at 180 pounds, McCloud has a 50 inch chest and 18 inch arms.

To stay in shape, he practices for two to three hours a day, six days a week.

"This is the first time this has ever been done from prison," McCloud says. "We did it with the help of (Assistant Superintendent) Willie Floyd."

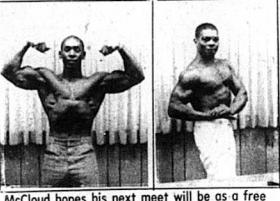

After his release, which he hopes will be within the next 60 days, McCloud intends to go to a higher weight class and to compete professionally.

Burlington took first place in the middle weight class and placed 10th in the Mr. South Florida tournament. At 174 pounds, he has a 48 inch chest and 17 inch arms.

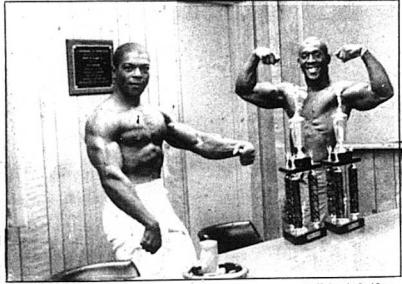

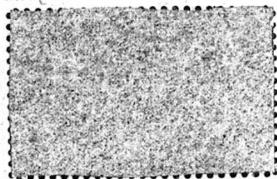

"A lot of the guys are into this," Burlington says. "There's a lot of talent here, but they can't compete because of the charges against them."

GCI cooperates as much as possible with the inmates, trying to give them the special food they need and providing them with the time to do their workouts. Burlington's next competition will be the Mr. Sunshine contest in Feb. 1985. McCloud's will be in June, hopefully as a free man.

McCloud hopes his next meet will be as a free man. Burlington's next meet is in February.

work. Out of that fee, they must pay room and board.

In their spare time, inmates can pursue their educations, receive vocational training, play basketball, lift weights or other recreational activities or they can go to the law or general reading libraries.

If they have emotional or other related problems, the institute has psychiatric or psychological services. They also have counseling services and Alcoholics Anonymous.

Music thinks that these activities are important in helping to maintain a positive attitude. With a population of 850 inmates, maintaining a positive attitude is imperative in order to maintain a stable environment.

Music admits the institute has problems. "We have homosexuality and fights, but you have that in any institution like this," he says.

When an inmate is near the point of release, he may be sent to a work release center elsewhere in the state.

Florida has such a large correctional system, Music says, that work release centers operate as separate entities, not part of any particular prison.

"I got in this business because I thought it'd be adventurous," Music says, "and it's been a constant

Christmas: all it's cracked up to be

The following two letters come from a column written by Gerald Kloss in the Milwaukee Journal:

"Dear Sir:

Where can I buy aluminum Christmas tree needles to spread on the carped under my aluminum Christmas tree? I want it to look natural, as if they'd fallen off the tree in the old-fashioned way.

"Dear SENTIMENTAL-TREE,

They aren't available right now, but a satisfactory substitute is to buy a few boughs of natural evergreen, allow the needles to dry and fall off and then spray with aluminum paint. They look like the real thing."

I want you to know you can have an especially meaningful Christmas this year even if the needles of your aluminum tree are not naturally falling on the carpet. Allow me to suggest a few simple alternatives you can make for a very Merry Christmas:

1. Begin listening to good Christmas music each day. If you don't have records or tapes, turn in to a radio station that plays it often. Call me and I'll tell you where to find that station.

2. Today begin reading through the Gospels in a modern translation, or paraphrased, or the Living Bible. You will become so well acquainted with the life, ministry and the heart throb of Jesus that when Christmas comes

6. And if at this point Christmas still doesn't seem to be all that it's cracked up to be, ask Jesus Himself to come into your heart. If he didn't come to this world, the pastors would have sermons to preach or to inspire architects to build beautiful cathedrals or to increase December retail sales. Jesus came to live in your heart as your Savior, Lord and Friend. Read John 1:12.

Letters policy

We solicit and encourage letters to the editor.

Our guidelines are simple:

- ✓ No libelous content.
- ✓ Letters should be relatively brief - no more than 300 words as a general rule.
- ✓ Signatures are required.
- ✓ No poetry, please.

Commuting pediatrician will never quit his work

By PAUL EVANS

BELLE GLADE - Twelve years ago, Dr. Nathan Kahn decided to Palm Beach to retire from the busy life of a New York City doctor. He didn't plan on going back to work when he got here, but he did.

Kahn, a graduate of Washington University Medical School in St. Louis, was a practicing pediatrician in New York for 26 years, until he decided to retire to Palm Beach in 1972.

After moving here, he contacted the director of Palm Beach Mental Health Clinic, who like Kahn was an amateur painter.

The idea was to establish a small group of amateur painters, but when he approached the man with the idea, he was informed that what the director really needed was a doctor with Kahn's particular talents.

Instead of retiring, he was persuaded to take the state licensure exam, and six months later he went to work in Belle Glade as the director of the Alcohol and Drug Abuse program.

The center was originally established as a center for treating children, Kahn says, but a lot of the funds ended up being spent on treatment for adults.

"One of the things you'll find here," Kahn says, "is that a lot of adults here have psychiatric problems."

Drinking and drug abuse are major problems in the community also, although Kahn says that alcohol seems to be more prevalent than drug abuse.

A lot of the problems start with teenage drinking. Alcohol has the potential of being very addictive, and a lot of adolescents get hooked.

"A lot of families have lost control of their kids," Kahn says. "The kids are looking for external controls, and they aren't getting it. A lot of just go haywire."

Working with kids who suffer from attention deficits and learning disabilities is Kahn's primary function at the Mental Health Center.

An attention deficit is a central nervous system disorder. There are basically two types of attention deficit, hyperactive and non-hyperactive.

In hyperactive cases, the message carried through the electrical nerve impulses or synapses are out of control and the child becomes hyperactive and difficult-to-control.

The non-hyperactive child is the slow learner, the one who has difficulty learning to read or write correctly.

When these problems are detected, usually by the child's teacher, they are referred to Kahn, who works with their neurological and psychological deficits and sets the children up for treatment.

"You treat these kids," Kahn says, "but you also need to put them into a positive environment. You try and get them into school and into group (therapy)."

Another problem he sees in the community is sexual abuse.

"There's a lot of abuse here," Kahn says, "in the larger urban areas you don't hear much about it, but in rural areas like this, you do."

One of Kahn's patients now is a 10 year old sociopath who was molested by her step-father and one or more of her mother's lovers.

Sociopaths are people who don't see anything wrong with anything they do, they don't care. What matters to them is what brings them pleasure. This girl's problems, Kahn says, were created in large part by the fact that she was molested. The girl is at a point now, he adds, when she preoccupied with and brags about having had sexual relation with these individuals.

"The problem is, what can you do for her?"

During the summer, Kahn went to a seminar in Russia with a group of other doctors. While there, one of Kahn's group asked their Russian guide what was done about cases of child abuse in the Soviet Union.

The guide replied that there was no such thing as child abuse in the Soviet Union, at least he'd never encountered any cases. The man persisted though and asked what would happen if a case of child abuse was reported.

The guide replied that if such a thing happened, it would be handled by a local community committee. They would go to visit the accused individual, and if it would not happen again. The guide did not elaborate on what it was exactly that they did to ensure this, but it was apparent that he believed it.

Aside from his work in Belle Glade, Kahn is also a volunteer for the Health and Rehabilitation Services (HRS) Human Rights Advocacy Committee. The group investigates complaints filed by HRS clients.

In his free time, Kahn attends a Master Painting course at Palm Beach Junior College as part of the school's continuing education program. He also likes gardening. His specialty is roses.

As for his original plan of retiring when he moved to Palm Beach, it's just not something that he did to ensure this, but it was apparent that he believed it.

"The kids here are lovely and I enjoy my work," he says. "It's nice to come to a place where you're wanted. I don't think I'll ever retire as long as they don't mind me coming here to work."

Call me and I'll tell you where to find that station.

2. Today begin reading through the Gospels in modern translation or paraphrase such as the Living Bible. Jesus will become so well acquainted with the life, ministry and the heart-throb of Jesus that when Christmas comes you will be excited about His birth.

3. Make some changes in your shopping habits: don't buy so much on credit, and buy gifts for people who really need them instead of others so hard to find that perfect gift for the one who has everything. Remember, the meaning of Christmas is giving to those in need as God gave His Son to us.

4. Plan to attend a church Christmas program in the next few weeks. Even if you do not regularly attend a church, invite yourself to go with a friend. As you listen to a choir sing its Christmas cantata or watch the children present their traditional songs, you will begin to feel the season.

5. On Christmas eve or morning sit down with your family and read the Christmas story in Matthew 1 or Luke chapters 1 and 2. This will set the mood for a more meaningful gift exchange.

6. And if at this point Christmas still doesn't seem to be all that it's cracked up to be, ask Jesus Himself to come into your life. He didn't come to this world so that pastors would have sermons to preach or to inspire architects to build beautiful cathedrals or to increase December retail sales. Jesus came to live in your heart as your Savior, Lord and Friend. Read John 1:12.

New Sears manager named

Elizabeth Bobo of Clewiston has been named store manager at the Sears, Roebuck and Co. Catalog Store in Glades Plaza, Belle Glade. The announcement was made by Deland Hulsey, District Manager of Sears Southern - east Catalog Group in Dublin, Ga. Bobo formerly was sales representative at the Sears Catalog Store in Clewiston.

She joined the company in 1973 at Clewiston, where she held a number of positions before being named store manager at Belle Glade in November 1984.

A native of Clewiston, Bobo is a graduate of Harlem

Academy High School. She attended Palm Beach Junior College.

She is a member of Greater Friendship Baptist Church, President of the Junior Women Missions Society, Past President and Present Treasurer of the Ebenease Women's Club.

Bobo is the mother of two sons, Darren 18 and Derrick 17.

You know it's an imitation. But what about the many people today who have decided they are just like a banker? From stockbrokers to retailers, from credit unions to insurance men, to savings and loans, they all seem to be saying, "You don't need a banker, we'll do just as well." Oh, no they won't. Because no one else has the banker's hundreds of years of banking experience behind them. Nor do they enjoy the kind of trust that bankers do from the majority of Americans.

So why settle for an imitation when you can have a real banker like the ones you find at the Bank of Pahokee, a Full Service Bank.®

BELLE GLADE
—Ribbon cutting ceremonies opened Royal's Furniture's new Warehouse Showroom at Belle Glade with Royal's president Larry Royal snipping the traditional red ribbon.

The new Royal's Furniture Warehouse Showroom is the eighth furniture store for the company which recently marked its 55th anniversary in the retail business.

"It's especially important to our company for us to make Belle Glade the site of our newest furniture location," commented Larry Parish, Director of Store Operations for Royal's.

"The tradition of Royal's started near here in 1929 and Belle Glade has always been our home," said Parish.

Royal's was founded by G.L. Royal, present Chairman of the Board, as a general mercantile and grocery store at Lake Harbor in 1929.

The latest expansion of the furniture store chain comes six months after Royal's sold its department store holdings to McCrory's Variety Stores but its

The new Warehouse Showroom features modular room displays and an expanded line for the furniture retailer.

"We're emphasising the 'total look' in home furnishings by providing our shoppers with mini-showrooms complete with accessories," said Mr.

Parrish.

Carping, home appliances and television and stereo complete the line for the new showroom.

Royal's renovated the former warehouse which was previously the warehouse for the department stores. The 5,000 square foot warehouse also continues to serve as a general and corporate office for the company.

Royal's Warehouse Showroom is located at 324 S.W. 16th St. (State Road 715) in Belle Glade. It is open from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

NOAH housing applications available for rehabbed houses

Neighbors organized for adequate housing (NOAH) are now accepting applications for their first two homes. The rehabbed house located at 233 NW 10th Street will be ready for occupancy by January 1, 1985.

Applications may be obtained at 300 West Canal South from Doug Gruber or from any member of NOAH. The duplex which has a total of seven bedrooms will be the first adequate and affordable housing attempted by NOAH.

There will be a public drawing to determine the first two families which will take place the week before Christmas. NOAH members also wish to announce to the community and to welcome to the NOAH organization a new staff person, Doug Gruber.

A and M band brings 'Rattler Step' to Belle Glade

By ELKE SCHWARZ

BELLE GLADE — Clad in green, red, and white uniforms and marching in their famous "rattler step," the Florida A and M University Marching Band performed brilliantly at Glades Central High School Stadium this past Sunday, saluting the military, population, sounds, sights and movements.

Two high school bands also performed. North Shore's "Mustang Marching Band" and Glades Central's "Maroon Machine" were outstanding.

The Mustangs played a conglomeration of Al Jarreau and Lionel Richie medleys. The crowd roared their appreciation when the Mustangs broke down to a Prince number, "When Doves Cry".

The "Maroon Machine" performed "El Incendio De Espana," "Topaz," and featured trumpet solos played by Bruce Mickey and Steven Jackson in "My Love for You," a Roberta Flack number.

FAMU attributed the first half of their performance to the University's ROTC program which started in 1972.

The 251 member band marched into various formations to different military songs starting with a navy battleship and closing with the American flag.

Approximately 1500 people attended the performance. During the intermission, members of the FAMU Marching Band who had attended Pahokee or Glades Central High School were awarded plaques.

The plaques were presented to the former high school students by their parents.

Students receiving the plaques were Kevin Moore, John Johnson, Everett McPheerson, former Pahokee band members.

Former Glades Central band members include LouWanda Wright, Sheila Dawson, David Scott, Robert Givans, Karen Pyfrom, Samuel Smith, Sandra Hendry, Michael Jones, Cynthia Jenkin, Son, Veronica Johnson, Timothy Abrams, Michael Jackson, and former president of the "Maroon Machine" and present president of FAMU band Kenneth Jackson.

City Commissioner Daniel Bythwood presented FAMU head band director Dr. William Foster a proclamation expressing his appreciation for the high quality entertainment that was being presented in Belle Glade.

Bythwood said he felt a close kinship with FAMU because of all the young citizen's coming from this area who had performed with the "Marching 100".

Bythwood also recognized Willie Pyfrom, band director at Glades Central, for his contribution to the community and for his outstanding leadership in band directing.

Chip Brown was presented an award by the "Maroon Machine." Brown, from Belle Glade, was a former drum major for FAMU. He had just completed his student teaching at Glades Central High School.

During the second half of the performance, the "Marching 100" played several, "Teddy Pendergrass numbers, also a breakdown number dedicated to Glades Central High School, spelling out the word "FUNK".

Nearing the end of their performance, the "Marching 100s" launched into a high stepping number called "Old Time Religion".

The "Marching 100" wrapped up their outstanding performance by playing their alma mater. They filed into three columns representing a rattlesnake. The entire tuba brought up the rear by doing splits, forming the snakes "rattle".

The program was sponsored by the Glades Central High School Band Boosters Organization. The proceeds go to the bands fund.

YAC program an alternative to crime

By ELKE SCHWARTZ

SOUTH BAY — South Bay's Youth Advisory Council (YAC) is established to offer youths an alternative to crime.

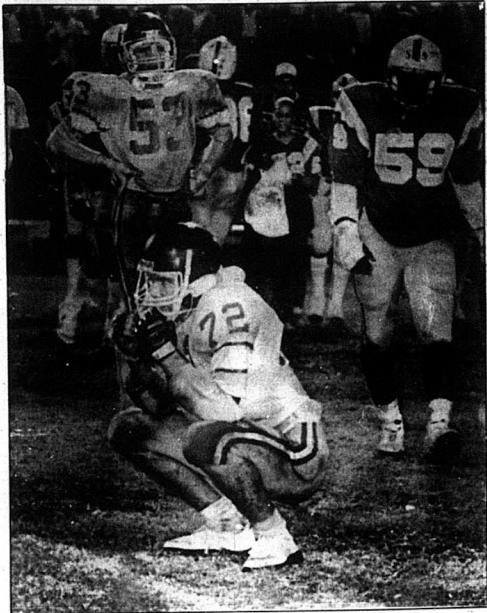

YAC is a non-profit organization originated by South Bay's vice mayor Clarence Anthony, last August. He also chose YAC's seven member committee and they are dedicated to helping youths in the South Bay community.

So far, YAC has held a Halloween carnival and shown drug and child abuse films.

"We had a good turnout at the last drug abuse film," said YAC chairman Jerry Haulcomb. "Detective Steve Halle had the question and answer session afterward. More youths than parents asked questions."

Within the next two weeks YAC plans on presenting Christmas baskets to two needy families in South Bay.

STUNNED by the defeat which ended their hopes of a state football championship, Clewiston players Jared Parrish (72) and Ken McDuffie (53) ponder what might have been Friday night against Riviera Beach Suncoast.

Researchers attend Miami meeting

Several members of the faculty at University of Florida, IFAS, Everglades Research and Education Center, Belle Glade, attended the annual meetings of the Florida State Horticultural Society held in Miami Beach, November 4-6.

This Society is the most prestigious horticultural institution in Florida and tropical and subtropical regions of the world, with about 1700 members mostly of the scientific community.

During the meeting, Dr. V.L. Guzman, Professor of Horticulture, was awarded the President's Gold Medal which this year goes to the member who has contributed the most of Florida Horticulture through work published in the Vegetable Section over the past five years.

The award included an inscribed gold medal, framed certificate, and honorarium of $250, and hotel expenses during the annual meeting.

Among the contributions of Dr. Guzman are several publications on Integrated Pest Management, Everglades Celery, chronic weed control, seasons and lettuce varieties and breeding lettuce for Florida organic soils. Most of these were in cooperation with other members of the University of Florida faculty.

Research papers were presented by Drs. Beverly, Dusky, Myers, Falk and Guzman of the EREC faculty dealing with nutrition of vegetable crops, weed control in vegetable crops, and control of vegetable diseases. Other members of EREC faculty present at the meeting were Drs. Foster, Izumo, and County Extension Agent Shuler.

Shop at home winner

PAHOKEE — Jerome Murvin of East Lake middle school was the winner of a $25 gift certificate, good at any of the Shop at Home business in the Pahokee area.

According to James Bennett of the Chamber of Commerce, and Chairman of the Shop at Home Committee, Murvin, who won first prize, entered the contest at Rashley Dry Cleaners.

The next drawing will be for $50 and will be held on Monday, Dec. 10.

In January, YAC is holding a Youth Rap Session, where the youth of South Bay can suggest some projects in which they would like to participate.

The RHS (The Health Rehabilitation Services), the DYS (Division Youth Services) and the Mental Health Center, all located in Belle Glade, have been very supportive by sending representatives to YAC's programs to help answer youths' questions.

YAC's committee members include: Jerry Haulcomb, chairman, Larry Gomez, vice chairman, Susie Hodges, secretary, Rosa Bryant, public relations, Dorothy Davis, treasurer, Bazil Anderson and Monica Bryson, board members.

"We want the youths to know that we care," said secretary Susie Hodges. "There is someone that will listen."

Sewer restrictions lifted

BELLE GLADE — The Department of Environmental Regulations (DER) has notified the city that restrictions on the amount of waste treated at the city's sewage treatment plant have been lifted.

During the past five years, the city has been limited to treating no more than 20,000 gallons of sewage per day, in order to meet DER regulations which mandate that between 80 and 90 percent of all solids had to be removed from waste treated.

In the past, the city was not able to meet those standards. As a result, there were limitations on the number of subdivisions or new construction that could tie into the city's sewage system.

To deal with this, the city hired the engineering and planning firm of Briley, Wild and Associates to develop a new sewage system for them. While the new facility was being constructed, the city was forced to maintain the 20,000 gallon limit.

But with the opening of the new plant, which

Christmas Club checks brighten the holidays

With Christmas just around the corner, some area Christmas shoppers will be finding welcome assistance in the mail this week. They're the shoppers who planned ahead and joined the Bank of Pahokee's 1984 Christmas Club.

"Nearly $78,000.00 in Christmas Club checks were mailed this week," said Frank Gable, of the Bank of Pahokee.

Savers who deposited amounts from as little as a dollar a week into their Christmas club accounts will be receiving the results of their planning in the form of bright, cheery Christmas Club greetings and checks from the Bank of Pahokee.

"The Christmas Club is fast disappearing in banking but we like the tradition and we want it as a service to our customers," commented Julius T. Moon, president of the local independent community bank.

"Besides," said Mr. Moon, "When it's time to send out the Christmas Club checks, we know that special time of the year is near and it puts us all into the mood for the season."

For Christmas shoppers who didn't plan last year, any teller at either of the Bank of Pahokee's two locations can provide the details and start the 1984 year off right with a new Christmas Club account for next year now through Jan. 9.

BELLIE GLADE-The Librarian. She will speak about the Calusa Indians, taking information from the books, Fort Center and South Belle Glade Municipal Library.

The speaker will be Phyllis Lillie, to the public.

The meeting is open to all friends, neighbors, visitors, nationality, creed or color to

The "Tree of Hope" is mounted in the front yard of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce with the first donations coming in for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Members of the community who have made a donation to MDA in memory or in honor of a friend or relative will have a bulb on the tree in their honor.

Each week another strand will be lit until the entire tree is lit on Christmas eve.

All citizens are asked to donate new or used items in good condition until Dec. 21, to any of the senior service area offices. Clocks, radios, handkerchiefs, cards, toiletries, costume jewelry, and even money may be donated.

Specialty selected gifts will be delivered to each senior citizen in the program. Each gift will be wrapped and include a Christmas card. The gifts will be given out to area senior citizens that the gifts were collected. All gifts and money donations are tax deductible.

According to Linda Schenck, area supervisor, "Project Santa Claus will give our housebound senior citizens a Christmas too."

Area senior service office hours are 8:30 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. The local Senior Citizen Center is located at 2976 State Road 15, Belle Glade.

Prevention and control of the flu

By MARY EDWARDS

Flu, or influenza occurs nearly every year. Flu can be a killer of certain people, and can make others very ill.

Influenza is a contagious respiratory disease caused by a very small virus which affects a person's lungs. When someone has the flu sneezes, coughs, or even talks, the flu virus is expelled into the air, and may be inhaled by anyone close by. Flu may also be transmitted by direct hand contact.

When a person gets the flu, the lining of the respiratory tract is damaged, tissues become swollen and inflamed. The whole body suffers from a fever, chills, weakness, loss of appetite, aching of head, back, arms, and legs. A person may also have a sore throat and a dry cough, nausea, and burning eyes. Temperature may rise to 104 degrees, but after two or three days, it usually subsides.

For health officials, flu is a moderately severe illness, but for people who are not healthy, influenza can be very severe and even fatal. Complications may set in. Most of these complications are bacterial infections. Bacterial pneumonia is the most common complication, but the sinus, bronchi (lung tube), or inner ear may become inflamed and painful.

Other less common developments may become present, such as viral pneumonia, encephalitis, or inflammation of the brain, acute kidney failure and any of various serous mental disorders.

All of these non-bacterial diseases are rare, but they can be fatal.

Anyone can get the flu, especially when it is widespread in a community. For people at high risk, influenza is a very serious illness. It is not too late to immunize even when influenza A is known to a minority. However, since the needs of the above target groups, high priority should also be given to organizing special programs making vaccine readily available to persons with moderately increased risk of serious illness compared with the general population.

Physicians should administer vaccine to any person in their practice who wishes to reduce their chances of acquiring influenza infection. Persons who provide essential community services, such as employees of fire and police departments and health care personnel may be considered for vaccination programs designed to minimize the possible disruption of essential activities.

Prevention - Annual vaccination with inactivated influenza virus is considered the single most important measure in preventing or attenuating influenza infection and is strongly recommended for the above men-tions. The needs of the above target groups, high priority should also be given to organizing special programs making vaccine readily available to persons with moderately increased risk of serious illness compared with the general population.

Office management taught at school

SOUTH BAY—Students at Rosewald Elementary in South Bay have been studying the operations and functions of an office recently.

Barbara Wilmoth's fifth grade class learned the daily functions of an office by studying an imaginary company, "Wilmoth Incorporated."

Students were presented certificates of accomplishment based upon their individual point average.

at the end of the course, on Monday, students learned about alphabetizing their list.

Wilmoth said the classroom study was developed by and balancing a checkbook.

She said each student was given an imaginary $1,000 to spend and the students were required to keep an accurate account of the balance and money spent.

Students filled out an applications for employment using a personal reference. They were each given a customer list, with address.

Students were taught the chain-of-command of an office, from office boy to president of the company.

Certificates were presented to Claudia Barrett, Ruben Belmares, Shawanna Brown, Jamie Brown, Lucia de la Fuentes, Natalie Forbes, Losira Harris, Percy Hester, Lakrishna Holzendorf, Torrance Humphries, Sharice Lott, Rosa Martinez, Deondia

Menimfield, Kim Moorcroft, Jessie Orozco, Aurora Pineda, Derrick Saddler, Marcia Sinclair, Samantha Trowell, Tia Walker, Tom Williams, James Willingham, James Zuniga, Jose Gurero, Osiel Martinez.

Trophy winners were: President Shawanna Brown, Vice President Tom Williams, Executive Director Percy Hester, Executive Director Derrick Saddler.
